ExperienceISC Evaluation-Board Duty

I gained useful experience by checking and evaluating student answer scripts carefully and fairly. This work helped me develop better analytical skills and improved my ability to make clear, balanced decisions. I learned to follow academic rules, deadlines, and marking guidelines while maintaining accuracy. I also got a better understanding of how students learn, where they make mistakes, and how their performance can be judged more effectively. The experience strengthened my focus, time-management, and attention to detail, especially during busy exam periods. It also helped me become more confident in handling responsibilities and working under pressure.

ISC File Assessment for Literature and Language – Board Duty

I also took part in the board file assessment for Literature and Language, where I reviewed student project files and assignments carefully. This role helped me understand how students approach their coursework and how their creativity and effort can be measured fairly. I learned to check files according to the board's guidelines, making sure each file met the required standards. This experience improved my ability to evaluate written work, identify areas where students need support, and maintain fairness in grading. It also strengthened my patience, focus, and responsibility while handling important academic documents.
